Thank You

Thank you to the handful of people who came to help make kielbasa this past week. Only two people were present the second day. In order for this to continue in the future, we need more volunteers to make this a success. This kielbasa was made for today's picnic. Any remaining will be available for sale.

Our Holy Father Hellius

An Egyptian monk of the fourth century, he devoted himself from early youth to monastic asceticism in the desert. He made monks and lay-folk marvel by his life and great miracles, and although he fled from human praise, he could not hide himself. He had fierce struggles with diabolical delusion, most especially during a long fast. The devil set before him sometimes honey and sometimes delicious apples, but he would not be enticed. He had insight into the hearts of men, revealing their passions and thoughts, and this not to make a parade of his inner knowledge but to set them on the right path.
